

MINN. STATE DAIRYMEN'S CONVENTION OPENS

PRES. L. JENSEN
CALLS MEETING
TO ORDER TODAYBELIEVES IT WILL BE ONE OF
THE MOST SUCCESSFUL HELD
IN HISTORYADDRESSES GIVEN BREATHE A SPIRIT OF OPTIMISM AND CO-OPERATION

Delegates to the Minnesota State Dairymen's convention poured into Brainerd last night and this morning by rail, bus and their own sturdy automobiles. Highways are in fair shape and the light fall of snow has caused little inconvenience.

President L. Jensen of Clearbrook believes the convention will be one of the most successful held and that the attendance of this forty-eighth annual three days' meeting will fully equal others held.

President Jensen called the convention to order at 10 o'clock this morning at the Chamber of Commerce rooms. The president swung a new gavel, made of shiny ebony, with a silver band decorating the business end. It was a gift from his many friends.

The invocation was given by Rev. August Samuelson, pastor of Clear Lutheran church. The address of welcome was delivered by R. R. Gould, who in the course of his remarks, said:

"It is a peculiar pleasure to welcome the 48th annual convention of the Minnesota State Dairymen's Association to our city of Brainerd."

"First because you are an intelligent and progressive body of men."

"Also because you are engaged in one of the oldest as well as one of the largest and most necessary occupations of mankind — the one in which I was raised, in which I earned the first money that I could call my own and the foundation of such business success as I may have attained and in which my father is still in a modest way employed — and which occupation is being more and more recognized as the foundation of general agricultural prosperity, and through agricultural success the backbone of all other business activities of the country and again because we are proud of our home town and glad to have you come and visit it."

"Brainerd is located in the geographical center of the great state of Minnesota, the breadbasket of the Northwest, and the summer playground of the nation."

"Brainerd is at the junction of state highway No. 2, crossing the state from east to west, and of highways No. 27, entering from the south, and No. 19, leading to the north."

"It is very properly called the Gateway to the Ten Thousand Lakes Region with several hundred of these lakes within easy driving distance of our main streets. We have a tourist camp for summer of which we are proud."

"It is a city of about ten thousand loyal, likeable people, not very different from other people, but of the kind that we would like to have you know."

"We have the Northern Pacific railroad with its shops; the Minnesota & International railroad with its administration offices; the Northwest Paper Company's big mill; numerous smaller industries including three creameries; all surrounded by an excellent farming country."

"It is within these two last named activities that we particularly associate this convention."

"Whatever else may be said and done we realize that the education and inspiration given by attendance here is bound to be a help to our farmer friends and neighbors, and that whatever helps them helps us all. We have given practical effect to this belief by furnishing 25 dairy sires at city expense for farmer benefit, more of which will be explained to you Thursday afternoon. It was in this spirit that the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce extended to you an invitation to meet with us at this time. It is in this spirit that I as its executive officer voice its welcome to you here today. We want you to make yourselves at home in these rooms, and to use such conveniences as we may have here, to assist in your labor and comfort."

"We trust that you will enjoy and profit by your brief stay among us, will have a kindly recollection of us in the future, and that you will leave of your wisdom and experiences expressed, a helpful influence among us."

"We are glad you are here. May this be a truly successful convention in every sense, and in our own home town of Brainerd, Minnesota."

An eloquent response was made by Hon. Andrew French, of St. Paul, who voiced appreciation of the many courtesies extended and the hospitality personified by the Brainerd Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Lions clubs and kindred organizations assisting to make this convention a success.

Tien Tsin, Jan. 19.—(UP)—Heavy bombardment is proceeding today in the direction of Shan-hai-kwan, marking continuance of General Chan Wao's advance toward Peking. The Manchurian "war lord" is attacking the remnants of the army of the late Kuo Sung Lin, who he defeated in December in an attempt to crush Chang's Manchurian power.

Pres. Jensen's Address
President L. Jensen of Clearbrook, in his annual address, said:

"We have passed another milestone, and added one more year to the life of our Association, completing the forty-seventh year of its existence, and from a dairy standpoint, it has been a prosperous and successful year."

The prices obtained for butterfat have been uniformly good, while feed prices have been relatively low, and the dairy cow furnished, by far, the best market for the home grown grains, such as oats and barley."

During the last couple of years the farmers and dairymen of our state are coming closer every year to the point where they are producing practically all of their own feed. The growing of alfalfa in sufficient quantity, is now common, nearly all over the state. To much cannot be said in favor of this wonderful legume, which does not rob the soil of its fertility, and yet produces wonderful crops of the very best protein feed, and at the same time furnishes the best and most economical means of keeping down the weed evil."

The necessity of feeding a succulent feed, in some form, either roots or silage, is now generally recognized, and extensively practiced, and your association, through its executive board, takes pride in having contributed no little share in bringing about this condition, as we fostered and assisted, within our means, every move that tended to better production, lower the cost, and improving living conditions."

However, there is still much work to be done. Agriculture as a whole is far from being in the prosperous condition that our basic industry should occupy, and the present speaker does not feel qualified to pass any opinions or to make any suggestions for relief, in a general way, but ventures the opinion that legislation alone will not pull agriculture out of the doldrums, and place it on an equal plane with other industries."

As to any suggestion that would tend to increase better returns to these farmers that are now engaged in dairying, I would say that close culling of the herd, made possible through Cow Testing Association work, or through your own individual efforts, perhaps assisted by your county agent or local creamery, will tend to lower the cost of production, and thereby increase the profits, and the keeping of, not more cows, but better cows, and by all means, use only pure-bred sires, out of good producing dams, and "for the land's sake," stir up a community interest in good livestock. It will result in better fertilized fields, better prices for all animals produced, and will attract attention to and advertise effectively, all who participate in it."

It is only a couple of years ago that Crow Wing county carried on a better sires campaign, a real community affair, that became known, not only in this, but in neighboring states. I am not familiar with the detailed results of this campaign, but have no doubt but that much good resulted from it."

The quality of the output of our Minnesota Co-operative Creameries is steadily improving and getting to be of a nearly uniform grade, thanks to better care of the cream on the farms, and the ability and high standard of our splendid class of buttermakers, and the loss of a couple of National Banners, to the state of Iowa, does not mean much, and we venture to advance the opinion that the tide will soon turn, and our good buttermakers of Minnesota again come into their own."

It has always been generally recognized that the climate of Minnesota, its grains and grasses, its pure water, and its pastoral people, peculiarly fits it for the production of the world's best food for the human race, the products of the dairy cow, and the Minnesota butter is known throughout the land for its high and uniform quality."

Since the landing of the Pilgrims there has always been a marked characteristic in American citizenship, which is known the world over as most characteristic of the United States. This characteristic can best be described in a general term by the word "quality." Our forefathers admired and all but worshipped a man in the community who was the best gunman, the best man with an axe, the man with the best ox team, the man that could do the best day's work—in fact, America has always been fascinated by quality, both in production and consumption."

Along the line of production, it is interesting to note some of the figures as given out by the state dairy and food department, and covering the year of 1924, the latest year for which complete statistics have been compiled. It appears that the year 1924 shows an increase over that of 1923 in the amount of 32,690,197 pounds of creamery butter, equal to an increase of 14.99 per cent, or, as the official report from the department says, 1634 carloads of butter of 20,000 pounds each, and worth over 14 million dollars. The amount received for the butter was $99,726,494.30 for the whole year, or over a quarter of a million dollars for each and every day in the year."

Is it any wonder that the communities where dairying predominates are the ones that show the healthiest growth? From such sections no calls come forth for special relief legislation, and reports of business failures are at a minimum."

Our good secretary, Mr. Heen, will give you a detailed account of the activities of this association, as carried out by your executive board, for the past year, but as his report largely deals with figures and dates, it may not be amiss if, at this time, I call your attention to what I consider to be some of the benefits derived through the carrying out of these projects and activities."

We have had more call for financial assistance than what our limited means permitted us to respond to, so we devoted whatever funds we had available to assist such dairy projects as held the greatest promise for the future, particularly that of the boys' and girls' dairy club work, which received our largest contribution, namely $1,000.00. We consider this to be money well spent, and feel that this movement, this awakened interest in better livestock among the youth of our state, the educational features in connection with the showing of their animals, is already making itself felt throughout our rural communities, and also reflected in the industrial centers, as evidenced by the intense interest shown in this movement and the moral and financial aid extended."

We also contributed the sum of $200.00 to the Southern Minnesota Livestock Show at New Prague, to be expended in awarding prizes for the best exhibits of dairy cattle. This livestock show is largely an educational affair, where judging cattle, for a period of three days, is one of the main features."

We also financed the trip of a state high school judging team to the National Dairy show, thereby aiding in the process of developing future expert dairy judges for our state, or potential expert breeders for the future."

As heretofore, we have financed the different dairy projects, as carried out by your executive board, as

GLASS ABOUT

Racine, Wis., Jan. 19.—(UP)—Passengers on two crowded North Shore electric trains were thrown into panic last night when James Rogan, a disgruntled farmer, fired at the trains from the darkness, wounded two and showered more than 100 others with broken glass from the car windows.

Rogan admitted the attacks early today, declaring that he aimed to keep the trains from running because "the road refused me a job."

The two trains, running a few minutes apart, were bound for Chicago from Milwaukee. Both were crowded.

As they were speeding through an open stretch three miles north of Racine shots came from the darkness, splintered windows, sprayed the passengers with flying glass and sent them scurrying for the exits as the trains rolled to a stop.

M. J. Shifris of Chicago was struck on the head by one bullet and was taken to a Racine hospital in a serious condition. Mrs. William Edmonds of Racine was grazed on the forehead by another bullet.

Hurriedly organized posses soon apprehended Rogan. He was carrying a rifle and at first professed to be hunting. After several hours of grilling however, he admitted firing on the trains.

"They wouldn't give me a job," he declared, "and so I decided to shoot up the trains and keep them from running."

FRUITLESSJUDGE STANTON DENIES COMMISSION
PLEA FOR WRIT
OF MANDAMUS

Grand Rapids, Jan. 19.—(UP)—Itasca county assessments made May 1, 1924, stand unchanged today despite efforts of the state tax commission to increase them.

Judge C. W. Stanton denied the application of the commission for a writ of mandamus to compel the county auditor to spread a re-assessment in the villages of Grand Rapids, Coleraine, Bovey, Marble, Nashauk and Keewatin.

The decision dismissed the writ and climaxed the court fight brought by the state body to increase Itasca county taxes. The case was formerly dismissed in the supreme court. The last action was brought by the Sargent Land Company, a holding company for property owners.

Judge Stanton explained the case could not be tried before a jury until April and expressed doubt that a legal re-assessment was possible without a hearing of taxpayers.

The county auditor refused to change his records and the case was taken to court. It may be appealed to the supreme court following Judge Stanton's ruling.

ONE

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(UP)—Investigation by a National Guard board of inquiry into the airplane accident in which Lieut. Russell Olson was killed and Second Lieut. William R. Nolan injured, may be carried to Washington with far-reaching effect, it was indicated in flying circles here today.

Testimony at the first hearing of the board revealed that the type of plane flown both by Lieutenant Olson and Lieut. Edward A. Michaud, killed in a crash six weeks ago, is obsolete although in general use by National Guard units throughout the country.

Lieut. George M. Palmer, regular army air officer assigned to the 109th observation squadron of which both Olson and Michaud were members, testified before the board that the type of planes in which both aviators met death had been used by the army air service since the service began. He corroborated statements of Major Ray S. Miller, commander of the squadron, that Olson's plane was as airworthy as an obsolete plane can be.

Ten witnesses were heard at the board's first session. It will meet again Monday when Lieutenant Nolan, the injured observer, is expected to be able to talk. He is suffering a broken jaw. Probability that the investigation will be taken to Washington was seen in statements of Major Miller that he has made repeated requests for modern equipment.

The decision will bear on similar gasoline tax laws of other states which receive government funds for highway construction.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Sen. Hiram Johnson of California, attacking the world court proposal in the senate today, argued that American entrance into the court "even if the court is what its proponents say it is, would be an idle and futile thing."

Johnson came onto the floor in the midst of the filibuster by Sen. Blease, democrat, South Carolina, against the court. Blease gave way to him.

Johnson was one of the leaders in the fight against the League of Nations in 1919-20, and his assault on the world court was bitter.

"Already we have the means at hand in the Hague court to accomplish anything that we could accomplish in the world court," Johnson said.

"I believe that joining the court has any efficacy. I decline to subject American questions to foreign judges. This action will depart from the American policy of 140 years and will take us into Europe's political affairs."

Johnson recalled the famous League fight and scored war and peace propaganda. He claimed that "even the minds of little children in the schools are being poisoned in the sacred name of peace."

With fiery eloquence, Johnson warned that the time would come again in the next national election "as it came in 1920 when the people rose up in their righteous wrath against taking us into Europe's affairs."

Johnson said the 5-5-3 ship ratio of the arms conference treaty was a "fraud, delusion and snare."

"Every officer in the navy department will tell you that this ratio does not exist," he added, "while America has been scrapping warships Great Britain has been scrapping blue prints."

Washington, Jan. 19.—The "Irreconcilable" battle against the world court is near its end. Any day now there may be a favorable vote upon the Harding-Hughes-Coolidge project for American participation in the tribunal.

Two members of the group—Senators Hiram Johnson, republican, California, and Jim Reed, democrat, Missouri—were called upon today with long speeches in an effort to breathe life into this movement which has contested the proposal since it was made three years ago.

Chairman Borah of the foreign relations committee, is about ready to close with his arguments and refuses to be a party to the filibuster which has sprung up in his ranks.

Five days remain in which to take a vote. Senator Lenroot, Wisconsin, acting administration floor leader, is positive a vote will be obtained in the next three days without use of the cloture.

RUBBER SPATS WORN BY ENGLISH WOMEN PROTECT LIGHT COLORED STOCKINGS

Above is pictured the new style of rubber spats being worn by English women to protect the light colored hose now in vogue from mud and dirt splashes. The spats may be folded and carried in a small waterproof case. It is claimed for them that they are more elegant than Russian boots and warmer as well.

Gas in Texas

An auto containing a lady and gentleman stopped before a wayside inn somewhere deep down in the state of Texas. A porter came running out. "Hey, you!" a gruff voice from the auto cried out. "Get me some gas." "Yessir," was the reply. "And what will the lady have?"

Rather Rough

For two years Mr. Wombat went to a small hotel in the mountains. And he worked hard to lay out on the steep hillside a three-hole golf course. The third year the hotel man raised his rates. Mr. Wombat inquired why. "We have a golf course now," the hotel man explained.

JOHN F. QUINLAN

Former Boiler Foreman in Local Shops Died at Home in Kansas

SUCCUMBS AFTER OPERATION

Has Been Boiler Foreman in Pittsburgh, Kansas, For 15 Years

John F. Quinlan, former boiler foreman in the local Northern Pacific shops, died recently at his home in Kansas City, Kansas, according to word received today by relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Quinlan have been at Rochester for the last month, where he had undergone one operation at the Mayo clinic. He had not sufficient strength to stand another, which was deemed necessary. He returned to his home to build up his strength for a while, but the trip proved fatal to him in his weakened condition. He lived but a couple of days after his return to his home.

Mr. Quinlan will be remembered by many local people for his having been boiler foreman here some years ago. He has held a similar position at Pittsburg, Kansas, for the last 15 years.

Among the relatives living in this locality are three sisters of Mrs. Quinlan, they being Mrs. Herman J. Lunneman of Crosby, and Marie A. Canan and Mrs. J. P. Early of Brainerd. W. H. Canan, who died last April, was a brother of Mrs. Quinlan.

Burial will take place from the family home in Kansas City.

ried on by the officers of the Red River Valley Dairymen's Association, well knowing that every dollar that can be spared for the work in the Red River Valley will be spent carefully and to the very best advantage, in promoting the dairy industry of the Valley.

We participated in procuring and financing the cost of the bronze tablet placed at the main entrance of the new Dairy Hall at University Farm, in honor of that grand old man, Professor T. L. Haecker, the father of our co-operative creameries.

As in previous years, we have encouraged the showing of good dairy cattle at county fairs, by giving silver trophies as prizes, and we have found that it greatly stimulates the interest of the exhibitors, although our means do not permit us to aid but a few fairs each year.

We are frequently called upon to furnish speakers for creamery meetings. Picnics and other large gatherings of people interested in dairying, and have furnished speakers for 21 such meetings during the past year. Naturally we are interested in learning of what good may come from attending such meetings, and we can state that we have many very favorable reports along that line.

In conclusion I wish to state that one of our main reasons for bringing this convention to Brainerd and Crow Wing county was the fact that we realize and can vision in this community a great future dairy section, a section fitted by nature for the growing of cows, clover, corn and alfalfa, and where possibly a little inspiration at the right time and place may speed the good work along.

We also know that the business and professional men of Brainerd have in them the spirit of co-operating with the farmers and dairymen, as they have proved this in the past.

We have put up some prizes for attendance by Farm Units, but best of all, we have some of the best talent in the line of speakers to be found throughout the whole of the great Northwest, and if the weather man will only favor us a little, we look forward to a record attendance, so don't miss any of the sessions; we shall be here for three days and I feel sure that all of those who attend the meetings will feel that it will be not only a pleasure, but profitable as well.

Secretary Chris Heen, of Osakis, said that in selecting the city of Brainerd in Crow Wing county, as the place for holding the convention, he believed the executive committee had more in mind the benefit that the convention would be to the territory embraced than just a place for holding the convention.

"Fourteen years ago the convention was held in the city of Wadena, your neighboring county. At that time dairying was only in its infancy in that county. Last year the association again held its convention in that city. In the years that have passed since the last convention Wadena county had so far progressed in dairy development that it had passed the million dollar mark, and it was freely stated by the dairymen and business men of Wadena county that the holding of the dairymen's convention there fourteen years ago marked the beginning of real interest in dairying and what it could do to solve the farm problem of that county."

The growth of creameries has been active in Crow Wing county too, and he cited figures to prove it. The report of Treasurer J. M. Jack of Northfield, followed.

The rapid physical growth of Jimmy McLarnin removes a big bowlder from the path of Fidel La Barba, flyweight champion.

Maybe that was why the Scotch Yank beat La Barba the two times they met. Since then McLarnin has been steadily growing toward the aldermanic class.

CRIME PROBLEM IN MINNESOTA

We have read a lot about the crime problem in Chicago, and New York, and in our state of Minnesota, and a point not emphasized by many students of this problem is the fact, as stated in one of Captain William H. Fawcett's magazines, that a considerable group of citizens has started in this occupation of holding up people, robbing filling stations and pay rolls, because they desire to enter such a get quick rich calling.

Heredity and crime complex and a lot of other learned terms have nothing to do with it. These people, after due consideration, have taken up a life of crime. Hunger, lack of a job, did not stir them.

The crime wave is being attacked on all angles. As stated editorially by the Minneapolis Tribune, the interim crime commission appointed by Governor Christianson to make a study of the causes of and remedies for crime with a view to making recommendations to the next legislature will do well to ponder the following statement recently made by David E. Blair, chief justice of the Missouri supreme court:

"The threat of the criminal class is real, not imaginary. Society is strong enough to protect itself if it will do so. Too great laxity and lenience toward criminals have unduly encouraged them and arrogantly emboldened them. The time has come when no man is secure in the fruits of his toil and economy. Even life itself is not safe from criminal aggression. If the criminal thinks he can gain by taking it."

"Every word of this applies with truth and force to Minnesota. Chief Justice Blair does not over-reach in stating conditions, nor is he extravagant in saying society has the power to cope with this dangerous, murderous evil, and that in self-protection it only needs to exercise that power under law."

"In this country we have pressed the principle of the presumption of innocence into a service that goes out of bounds. In the effort to see that no guilty man shall be made to suffer we have come to the point where we let too many of the guilty escape the penalty of their lawlessness. Society, or its official representatives, lean forward in tenderness for proved outlaws, and backward in the attitude toward self-preservation. In this habit we have gone to such lengths as to produce exactly and entirely the situation which Chief Justice Blair outlines."

"In Oregon, Missouri, Kansas, Illinois, Massachusetts, and other states the anti-crime agitation is as aggressive as it is in Minnesota. The common demand is that there shall be less leniency for those who brazenly break the laws, and more particularly for those who, in doing so, put themselves in the unquestionable classification of potential murderers. It has been amply proved by experience that present-day banditry is consciously imbued with the idea of taking human life, if necessary, as an alternative to continue the freedom of action of the bandit."

"Both Chief Justice Blair and former Governor Hadley of Missouri say the prevalence of crime is due more to legislative than to court shortcomings. The courts are bound by the statutory limitations placed on them, and handicapped in an administration of real justice by the lodgment of judicial power in other agencies than the courts. These two men also hold the legislature primarily responsible for what criminal lawyers are able to do in invoking technicalities to save their clients from getting their deserts. Speaking for Missouri, Mr. Hadley says the capture, prosecution and punishment of those guilty of major crimes is only 10 to 15 per cent efficient. It is not unlikely that a like percentage applies to Minnesota. If that be true, society has itself been almost criminally negligent in not using the power of public opinion to coerce the constituted authorities into strengthening the criminal code."

Here in Brainerd the courts, through Judge W. S. McClenahan, are operating and sentences imposed are not of the molly-coddle kind. The guilty have been punished and the sentences meted out have reflected the severity of the crime.

Technicalities of the law, failure to dot "i's" or cross "t's," sometimes result in freeing criminals, and THE DISPATCH recently quoted some of these examples. Minnesota's crime commission has a serious problem to study. The growth of killing in connection with robbery is one of the saddest developments of the crime wave. Not content with robbing a man or firm, the bandit adds murder to his long list of wrongdoings.

WELCOME, DAIRYMEN TO BRAINERD

THE DISPATCH is glad to welcome the Minnesota State Dairymen's convention to Brainerd. This 48th annual convention is one of real importance to the city and the surrounding community.

True, Crow Wing county has not reached the high development in dairying that Stearns county, for instance, boasts of. President L. Jensen, of Clearbrook, has dwelt on the fact that one of the main reasons for bringing the convention to Brainerd and Crow Wing county was because this is a great, future dairy section, fitted by nature for the growing of cows, clover, corn and alfalfa.

The county has seven creameries, all thriving. Butterfat commands a fair price. Sweet cream butter is being made in continually growing quantities.

The city of Brainerd is proud of its milk ordinance, always insuring a supply of healthful milk. The city will next year possess an extension of the present pasteurization plant.

Land and lakes are a boon to the local dairy industry. Alfalfa thrives here. We venture to say that should the dairymen again visit Brainerd years hence, as they did Wadena, they will be surprised at the development of the dairy business which bids fair to be the most important industry of this thriving county of central Minnesota.

Illuminating Fluids

Different fluids were used in the old type of lamp at different periods. Fish oil, including crude, heavy whale oil, was employed, and later lard oil was substituted in certain of these lamps. The lamp-burning petroleum and kerosene came in considerably later.

Apes Do Not Laugh

Laughter, as a method of expressing amusement, mirth or merriment, is peculiar to the human race. Some animals make noises resembling laughter, but such sounds have no relation to the phenomenon we call laughter.—Exchange.

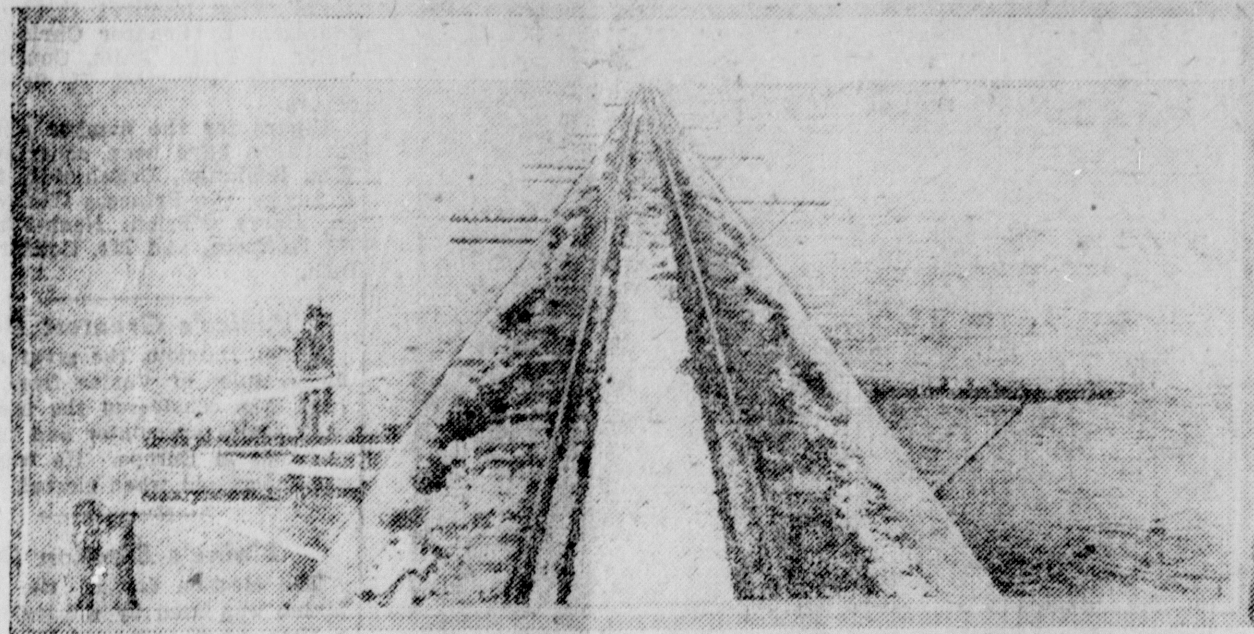

Making for Progress

All men do not think alike. If they did there would be little progress in this world. But all can treat the opinions of others fairly, weigh them justly, and give due credit. Then there will be progress in which all may participate.—Grit.

Banish Worry

Life is very short. We can't afford to squander the two resources which make it most pleasant, our good health and our good looks. Consequently we can't indulge in worrying any more than we can in too much rich food or too riotous living.—Family Herald.

The Social Whirl

The business man's calendar moves at the pace of cold molasses compared with the debutante's diary.

Odd Weather Conditions

The official daily weather records, which in Sweden go back 200 years, reveal for the last season a number of astonishing facts. On several occasions in the summer, Sweden was warmer than Egypt, and the average temperature for July was higher in Stockholm than in Paris. The rainfall was also three times more abundant than usual and yet the number of hours with sunshine came close to the record, held by the tragic year of 1914. The Swedish crop has been remarkably abundant this year and the weather conditions for the harvest favorable.

EXAMINATIONS

Peace and quietness predominates in the assembly. Worried and perplexed expressions are shadowing the countenances of practically all the students. The heads are seldom turned in any direction other than in a book.

We forgot to state the cause, excuse us. Well, examinations begin Wednesday. The last three fatal days of the week will be determining whether or not we make our credits.

The lamentings have now begun: "Oh! If I had only had good marks I wouldn't have to worry so much now." It can't be helped—those days are gone forever. No one can accomplish the work for four months in the short period of two days.

A plan which each and every one should adopt in the coming semester is to have good daily marks and so banish much worry that that reward alone pays for the extra moments of study.

The examination schedule was arranged for the convenience of students and teachers. Exams in Physics, Chemistry, Bookkeeping, Stenography, II, Typewriting, Manual Training and Cooking will be taken at the usual class periods, Wednesday. For the other examinations one hour and twenty minutes will be allowed. Thursday examinations are:

Geometry, Physics and Geography—8 to 9:20 A. M.

Higher Algebra and Ancient History—9:20 to 10:40 A. M.

English III and Caesar—10:40 to 12 A. M.

English I and U. S. History—1:15 to 2:35 P. M.

Mod. Hist. and Com. Arith.—2:35 to 3:55 P. M.

Friday examination schedule—

Biology and Physiology—8 to 9:20 A. M.

Algebra and Economics—9:20 to 10:40 A. M.

Latin I, French I and II—10:40 to 12 A. M.

Science I and English IV—1:15 to 2:35 P. M.

Eng. II, Cicero, Stenography I—2:35 to 3:55 P. M.

YES, OSWALD, THIS IS A FEATURE STORY

Have you ever written a feature story? No? Well, neither have I. But I'll tell you what a feature story is. It's a rather short writing, supposedly clever and usually not about something that's happened since the last issue and usually hasn't, that is to fill up space that should be filled with intelligent pieces of news and never is. It has a catchy heading (sometimes) and is never, never read. Everyone reads the sports section and the jokes. People that do read them waste a lot of sympathy pitying the poor demagogued souls that write them and then go out on the street and pass up the Salvation Army. A feature story fits in where an ad won't. At the end of the week the Editor checks up on all the available material, finds he hasn't enough to fill the paper, hunts you down, and says, "An! a feature story from you, this week." This is the straight dope, I know. I write feature stories.

P. S. This is a feature story. That's all for this week, but if you come around about this time next week we'll open up a bottle of ink and make things write.

The Feature Ed.

Who? What? Where?

The senior class play has been chosen as The Charm School. The rehearsals have begun in earnest as it is to be put on the 15th of February. The play promises to be a better drawing card than ever.

Miss Bowers had her tonsils taken out Friday night after school and was unable to attend school Monday. The senior room is still celebrating the fact that they had recently had new lights installed.

Messrs Johnson and Schaumburg have decided that after all, house-keeping is not so simple as it looked, especially the cooking and have given it up as a bad proposition.

All of Miss Lohrs classes were given a quiz as a little surprise on Friday while she kept silent on the subject. (She had a cold).

We notice that Mr. Beresford black eye disappeared during vacation.

Grace Alzant is back at the job of practicing for basketball. She was for a while out of practice on account of a sprained ankle.

The high school orchestra will play Wednesday night for the dairy-men's convention which will be held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Have You

Got any pictures of the present inmates of the High School, teachers or students, when they were in their infancy? Well, have you got any pictures at all that would be of interest to the whole High School? You have? That's fine! I would like to see them. Either bring them into the office or directly to me. Thanks.

The Feature Editor.

P. S. We need 'em now, not later.

THE BURGER COLUMN

By Ham and Lim.
A French Student Lament.
Miss B is my teacher;
I shall not pass,
She maketh me to recite and exposth mine ignorance to the whole class.

She restoreth my sorrows;
She causeth me to be ashamed for my grade's sake;
Yea, though I study until midnight.

I shall gain no knowledge,
For verbs disturb me.
She prepareth a test for me in the presence of my classmates;

She giveth me low grades;
My stupidity runneth over.
Surely, sadness and distress shall follow.

Me all the days of my life and
I shall remain in this French class forever.
Dum questions and dummer answers.

We All Agree

There are some students in this school.

Who do not seem to know

That they have got the privilege

That to High School they may go.

They think that they may sit around

Not to study but to play.

And that is just exactly what

They do the livelong day.

The teachers try their very best

To make good girls and boys.

But there are some folks in this school

Who still should play with toys.

B. H. S. LOSES TO
CROSBY, 15-11

The fast Crosby-Ironton quint invaded the local floor last Friday and went home on the long end of a 15 to 11 score. The game was slow from start to finish.

Friday morning Orth was called to Minneapolis, thus making him absent from the line-up, which required several changes in the line-up for Brainerd. As it was the Brainerd team gave a poor exhibition of basketball.

The Crosby-Ironton team now has a clear record of three victories and no defeats which puts them at the head of the percentage list.

Brainerd took an early lead when Avery caged three baskets in two minutes of play. The range team struggled hard for a lead at the end of the first half but were forced to take the small end of a 10-7 deal.

In the third quarter Tribur went out on fouls and left a gap in the Brainerd defense. The visitors took every advantage of this gap and managed to take a lead to 13 to 10 with two minutes and a half left to play. In these two minutes Brainerd counted once from the free throw line and Crosby-Ironton dropped in a field goal as the game ended, with the score 15 to 11.

This makes two games in succession that the local team has dropped and they will be out to redeem themselves when they go to Staples Friday.

The following is a summary of Friday's game:

Brainerd Crosby
Lawrenz rf. Westcott
Avery lf. Radosevich
Marshall c. Butvai
Putz rg. Satovich
Tribur lg. Bjorklund

Field goals—Avery 3, Westcott 2, Marshall 1, Radosevich 1, Satovich 1, Pomeroy 1, Butvai 1.

Free throws—Lawrenz 1 out of 2, Avery 0 out of 2, Marshall 2 out of 3, Tribur 0 out of 1, Westcott 0 out of 1, Pomeroy 2 out of 2, Pomeroy 1 out of 2.

Referee—Adams of St. Cloud.

ENGLISH IV STUDENTS STUDYING "HAMLET"

Immediately after the holidays the classes in English IV began their much looked-forward-to study of "Hamlet"—that play of Shakespeare's which has contributed more to his undying fame than any other.

During the three previous years of their high school career, they had occasionally heard from the lips of Seniors the words: "To be or not to be, that is the question," but they meant little or nothing to them then.

They also listened without a very clear understanding to heated discussions as to whether or not Hamlet was insane, but they thought that not much pleasure could be got from that.

Everyone of them, however, is keenly enjoying the tragedy and if there are different opinions on almost every character, they simply tend to make the study more entertaining.

Herman Buscher, while reciting a poem for English, was glancing at his book quite often, but all at once stopped short.

Allen V., speaking up: What's the matter, Herman? Did you lose the place?

First Student: Great Scott, I've forgotten who wrote "Ivanhoe."

Second Ditto: I'll tell you if you tell me who the dickens wrote "The Tale of Two Cities."

Man in a barber chair: "Be careful not to cut my hair too short, people will take me for my wife."

Bobby Anderson: Gee, I'm getting smarter.

Bill: How's that?

Bobby: I got 40 in geometry and last time I got 20.

Miss Laipple: How can you tell you have a weak heart, Edward?

Edward H.: If your breath comes in short pants that is a sure sign.

Miss Hall: Why didn't the Roman Allies and Colonies go to Spain to farm?

Helen T.: Many of them did but a lot of them didn't have any money.

Hugh P.: Well, why didn't they bum their way like a lot of men do nowadays?

B. D.: "I like to hear that professor lecture on Chemistry. He brings home to me things that I haven't seen before."

Tom S.: "That's nothing; so does the Student's Laundry Agency."

Mr. Johnson—"Helen, what do you understand about organic matter?"

Helen T.—"Oh, dead and living matter."

Mr. J.—"How many times should you bathe?"

Joe C.—"Three times a week."

Henry H.—"Oh no, once a week is enough for me."

Ellen G. (reciting quotation from Julius Caesar)—"Show you sweet Caesars' wounds, poor, poor, dumb Caesars." (Instead of poor, poor dumb mouths.)

Motto for high school boys with sisters—

Early to bed,
Early to rise,

From wearing my ties.

Teacher in Chemistry: "If this experiment fails, we shall be blown sky high. Come closer, students, so you may follow me."

Nellie: "What's the matter, Sonny?"

Sonny: "I-I-I burnt my hand in the h-hot water."

Nellie: "Serves you right, you silly boy; why didn't you feel the water before you put your hand in it?"

T. B. (describing the Kangaroo in biology): "The Kangaroo is the only animal that jumps when it runs, and sits down when it stands up; and it is the national bird of Australia."

Bill: "Boy, I'm getting so near-sighted that I bump into people when I walk along the street."

E. F.: "Yah, that's getting dangerous. Why don't you buy a car and drive it?"

Careless of Her
Edna: "There! My heel's gone!"
Elmer: "Ah, bother! Don't you carry extra parts?"

Passing the Buck
"Yes, Walter," said mother, "the baby was a Christmas present from the angels."

"Well, mama," said Walter, "if we lay him away carefully and don't use him, can't we give him to somebody else next Christmas?"

Miss Graham: "Why do some soaps float and others not?"
Reginald: "Some have lye in them."

Teacher: "Willie, have you learned the use of 'like' and 'love' yet?"
Willie: "Yes, I like my father, but I love pie."

"Hey, Ernie, how do they make sawdust?"
"O, er—use your head, Will, use your head."

"Where's your wife?"
"She's wintering in the West Indies."

"Jamaica?"
"Oh, no, it was her own idea."

What Would Miss Oerting Say?
1st Freshie: "S 'n owl."
2nd Freshie: "S not, 's 'n eagle."
3rd Freshie: "S neither, 's 'n ostrich."

Mr. Butler: "Yes, I want a good, useful lad to be partly indoors and partly out."

Harold: "And what becomes of me when the door slams?"

Lee: "Say, she is the dumbest girl I ever met."

John P.: "How come?"
Lee: "Why, she wanted to know many quarters to a football game."

John: "That's nothing; mine wanted to know if a football coach had wheels."

"What mood," asked Miss Mosier in one of her classes.

"The cow," answered the sleepy freshman.

Little Johnnie, not being to school the day before, was rather nervous in his excuse, Teacher, calling roll: "Yonnie! (no answer) Yonnie, are you here?"

Johnnie: "I dunno."

Teacher: "Why weren't you to school day behind yesterday?"

Johnnie: "Well—ya know my ma she lost the lid off the stove, and I had to sit on the hole to keep the smoke in."

1st Person: "I smell rubber burning."

2nd Person: "Oh, that's only my feet getting hot."

Went H.: "What have they got this water out here for?"

Jim K.: "They want to find out if water will freeze."

Lena G.: "It's hard."

Anthony K.: "Yes, it's hard, but I got it."

Senior: "What's cold boiled ham?"
Freshie: "It is ham boiled in cold water, isn't it?"

Mr. J. (in Phys. class): "Esther, how are colds contracted?"

E. G.: "By using someone else's handkerchief."

Miss H.: "What started the quarrel between Luther and the Pope?"

John G.: "The Pope sent Luther a bull."

Soph (holding up a picture of a zebra): "What is this?"

Freshie (extra green): "A horse in a bathing suit."

THUNBERG SHOWS HE'S NO INDOOR SKATER

HUMILIATING DEFEAT NUMBER 2 FOR THE FINN

FINLAND'S OLYMPIC CHAMPION WANTS TO RACE IN THE OPEN

KNOWS THAT GAME, BUT CAN'T MAKE TURNS IN INDOOR SPORT

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Jan. 19.—After two humiliating defeats Clas Thunberg, Finland's Olympic champion skater, wants to abandon indoor racing and get out in the open where he knows the game.

In two races over a three-mile and a mile and a half distance, Thunberg was not only badly beaten by Joe Moore, the international indoor champion, and Charley Gorman, Canadian champion but he was almost forced to give up.

He told his friends today he realized it was futile for him to try to adjust his stride to the sharp turns of a small track and it was impossible for him to get accustomed to short blades that are necessary on a small track.

There is no question that Thunberg is a vastly better skater than he appeared to be in his first two races. He won more points for Finland in the 1924 Olympic games than Paavo Nurmi did and he is perhaps the best amateur skater in the world on a big outdoor track.

He got all tangled up in his race last night in the Garden and almost fell. When Moore and Gorman jumped him he fell back almost a lap and didn't exert himself when he saw he could not catch the leaders.

For this lack of effort the gallery treated him to a razzing but it is doubtful that he knew what it was all about.

Thunberg has much more of a personality than Nurmi and in trusting his reputation to a game that he knew nothing about he displayed perfect sportsmanship. The way Joe Moore is skating now there isn't any amateur on the ice who can beat him on a small track and Thunberg admits it.

Moore's time in winning last night was 4:37, twelve seconds behind the record, but he wasn't pushed seriously and might have made better time under stiffer competition.

CANNES TURNS OUT TO SEE HELEN WILLS

Cannes, France, Jan. 19.—(UP)—The largest and most fashionable gallery of the season gathered at the Metropole club this afternoon to see Miss Helen Wills, American tennis champion, play her first match in the Metropole invitation tournament.

The American girl was drawn against Miss E. M. Green, a young English player and she was not expected to have much difficulty in winning although she had very little time for practice.

Miss Suzanne Lenglen, the French star is not entered in the singles competition and the young American probably will have her most serious opposition from Mlle Vlasto, Senorita Alvarez, and Mrs. Satterthwaite.

LUTHERANS AND FIRST BAPTISTS CHALK UP WINS

GERALD HALVORSON STARS IN FIRST GAME OF SUNDAY SCHOOL LEAGUE

BARNES CAGES FIVE GOALS AS BAPTIST DOWN PRESBY-TERIANS

The Lutheran Juniors nosed out the Methodists last night in the first game of the Sunday school league, the score being 8-6. The score was 8-0 up to the last quarter, when the Methodist youngsters started a rally, and forged to within two points of their opponents. With one minute to go, Captain Halvorson of the Lutheran team called time out, and doped out a stalling game, going in to hold ball six times in succession to occupy the remaining seconds of play.

Young Halvorson was a team in himself. He scored all his team's points and was in every play. What the team would have done without him is discouraging to think about. His team was outweighed and overtopped in size, but every member of the quint gave a good account of himself.

The entire Methodist team did well, with Mayo, Bouma and White coming through with goals in the last quarter.

Peterson refereed this contest.

The First Baptist Intermediate team swamped the Presbyterians in the second game of the evening, winning by a score of 15-5. Barnes, rangy center of the Baptists, made five field goals and one free throw for eleven points. Storm and Rice each scored a goal for the other points.

For the Presbyterian team, Bentley counted four points on two field goals, while Paine made the remaining point on a free throw. The teamwork of the Baptists was a deciding factor in the winning of the game. They played a fast passing game, and worked the ball down the court with a series of short passes. The Presbyterians seemed lost, not knowing where to find their teammates.

Ericsson refereed this game. Tonight the Zion Evangelical Juniors meet the Presbyterian Juniors at 7 o'clock, and the Zion Evang. Intermediates clash with the Methodists in the game immediately following. These games are open to the public, no admission charge being made. About 125 people saw last night's games.

STECHER USES FAMOUS SCISSORS HOLD ON DAVISCOURT

Stecher won the first fall in 22:20 with a body scissors hold.

Daviscourt won the second fall with a double wrist lock in 29:25, while Stecher took the third fall winning the match with another body scissors in 16:20.

Imagine a Telephone—which would connect with only half the numbers in the book

It wouldn't be more annoying than a radio set that receives only half the stations.

Each broadcasting station is assigned a definite wave-length, but the ordinary radio set receives wave-lengths only from 550 to 240 meters. There are now over a hundred stations broadcasting on less than 240 meters not reached by these other receivers.

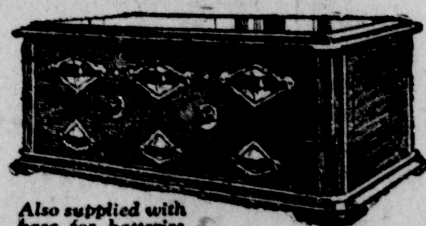

You don't need two sets to get all these stations, present and future. The new Grebe Synchronphase will tune them all because it receives from 550 down to 150 meters, thanks to an exclusive invention—the Low-Wave Extension Circuits.

RAINBOWS SHOW GOOD FORM FOR DULUTH FRAY

WINNING COMBINATION SOUGHT
WITH LARSON, HANSON,
BOLLENS FORWARDS

DULUTH WILL BRING FAST
QUINT FOR GAME HERE
SATURDAY

The Rainbows showed flashes of form in their workout last night at the high school, and give promise to have a speedy combination for the Duluth game Saturday night. The main job ahead of the manager now is to iron out the rough spots, and formulate a system of attack that will take the opponents off their feet in the early part of the game, while they are still unused to the local gym.

Larson showed up in rare form last night, having his eye on the basket so consistently that his teammates are sure he will be a headliner next Saturday. Hanson is also going great, but will probably be reserved till later in the contest. Bolleens will play the other forward position opposite Larson. Beresford is slated for center, with Heikinen and Dieckhaus at the guards. Orth will most likely get into the fray, but was not at the practice session last night, not being back yet from St. Paul where he was called for his father's illness.

Opposed to this array of local men will be a team of stars from the lake metropolis bearing an envious reputation for flashiness and playing ability.

In the preliminary game, the Senators and Pirates, two girls' teams of the high school, will meet for the third time. This game starts at 7:45 o'clock with the main feature at 8:30.

You can't stay where you are

You turn through a kodak album and smile at old-style clothes. Skirts cluttering the ankles . . . hats perched high up on hair . . . wasp waists . . . awkward sleeves—odd how your taste has changed!

Yet day by day your taste changes in all you wear and do. You don't like the same books, enjoy the same movies, choose the same underwear, prefer the same soap you did a short while ago. You are so used to the better, you wonder why you liked the old. Advertisements make you know the better as soon as it's proved to be better. They tell of good things accepted as good taste in the best-homes. The hosiery, glass-curtains, lighting fixtures other moderns use; why their use is preferred. Advertisements influence so many around you, sooner or later you'll feel the change. Even if you never read an advertisement, you'll use in time some of the conveniences which advertisements urge you to use today. Advertisements form a tide of taste that sweeps you forward; you can't stand still. Since you'll enjoy what they advertise anyway, why not begin enjoying it now?

FOURTH U. C. T. DANCE FRIDAY

Hedstrom's Orchestra Will Furnish Music, Bringing Latest Hits

ADMITTANCE BY INVITATION

Charleston Contest Soon, With Southern Dancer to Demonstrate

Invitations have been mailed out for the fourth of the series of dances being given by the U. C. T. at Gardner's hall, on Friday evening, January 22.

Hedstrom's eight-piece orchestra will furnish the music for this dance. This orchestra is very popular with the dancing public, and they will introduce some of the latest dance music.

Admittance to these U. C. T. dances is by invitation only. No one will be admitted who has not an invitation to present at the door. Ladies without escorts will not be admitted.

The U. C. T. dances seem to be very popular with the people living in towns outside of Brainerd, and many more than usual will attend this dance.

A Charleston contest is being planned for the near future, when the U. C. T. will have Prof. Harris Fitzwilliam of Mobile, Alabama, to demonstrate how it should be danced.

Methodist Aid

The Methodist ladies aid society will meet in the assembly room of the church on Wednesday, January 20, at 2:30 p. m. The hostesses are Mrs. Kelly Davis, Mrs. Vern Hoeft, and Mrs. Walter Paul. Visitors are always welcome.

Presbyterian Circle
The Presbyterian circle number 1 will meet with Mrs. O. A. Peterson North Seventh street tomorrow afternoon. Visitors are welcome.

Card of Thanks
We wish to extend to our many friends our sincere thanks in appreciation of the many acts of kindness and expressions of comfort to us in our recent hour of sorrow in the loss of our beloved husband and father.

MRS. MARY DONANT, and family.

And Again, More Sale Specials

We promise to all who will attend our sale a constant change of special offerings. Those specials that are sold are replaced by others. This keeps plenty of interest and makes frequent visits to our store profitable. Here are some new ones in addition to those already on display.

Sale-ettes

The sale will close Saturday night, January 30th.

But, don't wait until the last days. We are not replenishing stocks.

Yes, a storm today. Tomorrow should permit buyers to get out tickets and report them going like hot cakes.

How the remnants have sold. There were many and the prices have so interested all.

We appreciate the spirit of our friends who are assisting us by promptly paying their accounts.

The table of muslin undergarments just opened for sale is an interesting addition to our sale offerings. Surely they are money savers.

"Twill be two weeks tomorrow since we opened the sale. And it is still going strong. The cause? Excellent bargains—and there will be many more.

The gloves offered today are so cheap as to cause such a question as "What are they?" If your size is among them you'll buy more than one pair, we are sure.

The coming of Mr. Gates will bring another public spirited citizen who should be a real asset to the city. And it will be a home store. Owned by and operated for Brainerd people.

So many have expressed regrets that the H. F. Michael Co. will no longer be in business. Let us assure all such that we feel confident that Mr. Gates will give Brainerd even a better store than we have.

This sale, immediately following the Christmas selling, has been hard for those in the store. However, they have entered into the spirit of the sale and have enjoyed it although sometimes quite weary.

Mr. Gates has taken the same advertising space we have carried in the Dispatch. He will use the same "pen point" type which has been used in our advertisements exclusively. You doubtless have recognized the distinctiveness of the type used in our regular advertisements.

HEAVY SELLING

New York, Jan. 19.—Further heavy selling broke out on the stock exchange today proving that the market had not completed the readjustment of its technical position. Price movements were highly irregular and a definite downward trend developed in the afternoon, resulting in extensive declines in active industrials.

That these losses were due to conditions within the market and not to any adverse happenings in the outside news was indicated by the general constructive character of the business items and by the easement in call money to four per cent after it had renewed at 4½ per cent.

The market closed lower.

"The Sufferin' Prig"

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(Copyright.)

SMALL Kitty sat down on a large clean stone beside the round pond, and spread her pink gingham frock carefully around her. Her small sandaled feet rested properly on another smaller stone, and her golden hair tumbled in a shining cascade over her bewitching face. Her solemn blue eyes were fixed on a young man in knickerbockers and felt hat who was digging bait on the opposite side of the pond.

"Hi!" shrieked Kitty, and relapsed into frightened silence.

He glanced from under the pulled-down brim of his old hat and smiled, showing nice white teeth. "Hi, yourself!" he called back.

He went on digging bait and Kitty screwed up her courage to ask another question. "You goin' to fish?"

"Yes—going to catch a big one," he whacked the flat stick he used as a shovel on the side of the bait can.

"You can't fish in this pond," announced the onlooker.

He was amused. "Why not?"

"There ain't any fish!" she crowed delightedly.

He laughed with her, and then he informed her that he did expect to catch some large fish in the brown brook that crept across the corner of the meadow.

"You mustn't," she said in a hushed tone. "It belongs to an awful funny man!"

"Funny, eh? That's a new one!" "His name's the 'Sufferin' Prig,'" she announced triumphantly.

He sat back on his heels and stared at her. "Good heavens, child, who named him that?"

"My Aunt Kitty."

"Your Aunt—Kitty—Trevors?" Kitty nodded her head violently.

"What is your name?"

"Kitty Bacon."

"Then your father is Jim Bacon—the married Josie Trevors," said the young man in a teasing tone. Suddenly he emptied the contents of the bait can on the muddy ground and flung the can into the bushes.

Kitty whimpered. "I wanted to see you catch a beautiful fish," she complained.

"Some other day, Kitty," he came around and took her in his arms, looking into her wide eyes and suddenly kissed her soft pink cheek. "You look a lot like another little girl named 'Kitty' who played with me when I was a little boy," he said seriously. "I wish I was that little boy again—" he sighed.

"Why do you sithe?" demanded Kitty curiously. "Is it because you are not a little boy now, or is it because you are a 'sufferin' prig'?"

He roared with laughter. "I wish I knew why they called me that. 'An insufferable prig!' Whew!"

"Aunt Kitty told me you was that," said the child cruelly.

"Ah—no—not Kitty!" He was really hurt. Their quarrel was old enough to be decently buried, but a faint gleam came to cheer him. If Kitty could not forget, it might be that she still cared! Dishonorable as it was held to be to question a child, he must know why it was that he had suddenly fallen from grace.

"Why am I a prig, do you know, little kitten?" he asked.

"I think it was about the knickers," informed Kitty.

"Knickers," looking down at his own tweed garments.

"I asked Aunt Kitty one day when I wanted to go and play in your garden, and she said no, I could not, and she had cried and said I could not, because you were a 'sufferin' prig!'"

So, of course, I asked to 'splain how you was that!"

"Of course you would ask her."

"And she said she wanted to wear

CAPTAIN FISH OF STEAMSHIP AMERICAN TRADER RECEIVES

Capt. Hubbard C. Fish is shown receiving a gold medal from Cornelius Elbert, president of the Life Saving Benevolent Association of New York for bravery on the part of the captain and the crew of the American Trader. FAR AWAY MOSCOW SENDS
TO FERRET FARMER HERE
TO END PLAGUE OF RATS

Fred Held makes a good living raising and selling ferrets near New London, Ohio. He finds a market for the thousands he raises every year in almost every State in the Union and in Canada. Companies operating ocean-going steamships buy many of the small animals to keep their craft free of rats and mice. Not long ago Held made a large shipment to Moscow, Russia, where rats were literally eating certain sections of the city. He is shown above with one of his ferrets.

A Clean Cut

A sharp knife is better for trimming the ends of flowers than scissors, as scissors are inclined to squeeze the stems so that they do not take up the water well.

Don't Neglect
That Stubborn
Hacking Cough

It is not only dangerous but entirely unnecessary to let a persistent, hacking cough rob you of sleep and strength. For through a very simple treatment you can get almost instant relief, and very often break the most stubborn cough completely in 24 hours.

This treatment is based on the famous prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You simply take one teaspoonful at bed-time and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of night coughing. So the coughing quickly ceases and you sleep right through undisturbed.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, sore throat, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children as well as grown-ups—no harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for
